Honesty Pays

An interesting story has to deal with A. B. Graham, the lucky winner of the big $300 prize given in connection with the rodeo and carnival.

Mr. Graham and his daughter had attended the rodeo performance Monday afternoon, but somehow had been missed by the ticket sellers at the gate. However, Tuesday morning he came down town and informed a member of the rodeo committee that he had failed to pay for Monday's show and wished to do so. Paying for the two Monday admissions, he also bought a ticket for Tuesday's show, and it was one of these tickets that was drawn at the carnival and won him a $300 prize.

The moral is obvious . . .

United Church Is Scene of Pretty Wedding

The Vulcan United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding of much interest locally, Wednesday, June 2nd, when Shirley Laura, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fletcher, Brant, became the bride of Mr. John Mitchell Wolfe, elder son of Mr. John Wolfe and the late Mrs. Wolfe, Vulcan. Rev. O. H. Rollis officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mrs. W. W. Almond. Her wedding gown was of white satin, featuring a sweetheart neckline, lily point sleeves and a deep nylon pinaflore ruffle. Her chapel veil was held by a beaded coronet head-dress, and she carried a shower bouquet of Sweetheart roses and white gardenias. She wore a double string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Maureen Wolfe, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and little Fay Fletcher, sister of the bride was flower girl. Miss Wolfe's gown was of yellow brocade and tulle, and she carried a bouquet of Kokoma carnations. A coronet of the same flowers was worn in her hair.

The flower-girl was attired in a long blue organza dress and carried a nosegay of spring blooms.

Mr. Victor Grimson of Vancouver, B.C. was best man and the ushers were Mr. Wendell Wolfe and Mr. Edward Arney.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Lancaster very beautifully sang, "Because," accompanied by Mrs. Almond.

The church was attractively decorated for the wedding with ferns, gladioli and snapdragons.

Following the ceremony a reception for one hundred guests was held in the Legion hall. Here again bouquets of gladioli, snapdragons and ferns were used as decoration. The bride's table was laid with a Madeira cloth and centred with a three-tiered wedding cake. Vases of white carnations and snapdragons flanked the cake.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. J. Rhodes of Brant and very suitably responded to by the groom.

Receiving with the bridal couple were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fletcher, Mr. Wolfe and the bridal party.

During the reception a number of telegrams of good wishes were received and read from friends and relatives unable to attend.

Invited out-of-town guests were: the bride's grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Macklem and Mrs. Frank Fletcher, Sr., Calgary; Mrs. Hugh Denney, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. E. Wetstein, Missoula, Mont.; Mr. and Mrs. MacGregor and Beth; Mr. and Mrs. Esdale, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, all of Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. F. Killian, Mrs. Kimm, and Miss Georgia Fletcher, Calgary.

For going away the bride changed to a suit of brown wool, matching the one worn by the groom. Her hat was of beige and she wore a top-coat of paddy-green. Her corsage was of gardenias. Following a motor trip of three weeks through parts of the United States and a visit to Vancouver, B.C., the young couple will make their home in Vulcan.

Those assisting in serving were: Misses Peggy Elder, Doreen Weber, Rose Haga, Mary Douglass, Gladys Mainland, Marjorie Hamilton and Jean Benoit.

Miss Claire Fleming was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Deans on Wednesday evening, June 9, with Mrs. Deans, Mrs. W. Koeller, Mrs. N. Love and Misses Effie and Jessie Van Delen as joint hostesses.

The highlight of the program was a "sewing bee" in which every one present sewed a miniature article for Claire's future home. While the guests were busy sewing a musical program was presented, consisting of a duet by Madeline and Sharon Love, a solo and poem by Mrs. W. Koeller and a solo by Mrs. Gordon Gardener.

Mrs. N. Love presented the gifts to the bride-elect. They were artistically arranged in a "Pot of gold" at the end of a rainbow. Miss Fleming was assisted in unwrapping them by her mother and sister, Linda. She suitably thanked all for the many lovely gifts.

At the close of the evening a dainty lunch was served by the hostesses.

Successful Women's Institute Conference Held at Barons

The 30th. annual Conference of the Women's Institute of the Little Bow Constituency held on Friday, June 11, at Barons, with about forty-five present.

The conference was convened by Mrs. R. A. Clements, constituency convener, and Mrs. Bert Maisey secretary. The meeting opened with the singing of O'Canada, and a tribute to the Flag was given by Mrs. Jack Marshall of Vulcan. The devotional period was led by Mrs. Joe Main of Kirkcaldy, reading the 122nd Psalm, after which the Creed was repeated in unison.

Greetings were read from Mayor MacQuarry, who was unable to be present, and greetings of welcome were given by Mrs. Lyons of Barons with Mrs. J. D. Hagerman of Kirkcaldy replying.

Reports of "Agriculture and Canadian Industries", "Citizenship", "Handicraft" and "Household Economics" were given by the conveners, showing the splendid work the branches have been doing on these subjects during the year.

Mrs. E. E. Morton of Vegreville,

She drew a vivid picture of conditions as she had found them in England, Holland, Belgium and France.

Mrs. Earl Hutchinson of Warner, Director of No. 4 District, was also a guest speaker, touching on many things pertaining to Institute work.

A solo was given by Miss Priscilla Gyggie, accompanied by Miss Kotkas, both of Barons, and was much appreciated.

Mrs. Ross Walker, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, thanked Mrs. Clements, Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. Morton and the Barons W.I. hostesses (who served a delicious lunch) the entertaining artists, and all who helped to make this a very successful conference.

Interesting Letter From Norway

The following interesting letter from Mrs. Hans Lundgren was received recently by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion.

Hovik Oslo, Norway, Box 135.

Dear Friends:

I will write you a few lines to let you know I am still in the land of the living, and that I miss you all very much. I hope you are all well and enjoying good health, and I wish the Auxiliary health, wealth and happiness. I am far from home but please think of me as a member.

Food in this country is very scarce. Lard, tea, bread, meat of all kinds, dress materials etc., are rationed, as well as clothing and shoes.

Just think its five long months since I came here, and it has been a very long winter. But now the snow is going fast and in spots I can see the green grass. And that makes my heart warm as summer will soon be here again. We have had rain for the past three days, but I do not mind that so long as it doesn't snow. I feel that I never want to see snow again.

I have been to see a few skiing jumps and that is very interesting. To see the boys come down the mountain side on their skis. Some like a graceful swallow and some look like a spider with many legs. But it is a very dangerous and not always pleasant. At other times one must laugh though.

Mother, at the present is very well for her age, which is more than 85 years. She and I take little walks when the weather permits.

Here, where I am sitting in my bedroom I can look out over the garden, and see the fruit trees. Apples, pear and cherry. When in bloom they will be lovely. On the other side of those trees is the highway and the traffic is heavy on it. The name of this road is Drammensli Road, and it is the one the Germans used when they marched into Norway.

I have seen the remains of large buildings, of twisted steel and broken bricks, and even bombs, where the German shells fell.

There is a small piece of land close to where I am living, and on this land are small cabins that the Germans built for watch towers, for the big guns, they had underground, close by.

I have so many things I could write about, but I am afraid they might weary you.

I am in good health, but long to see my old friends again. And of course I am homesick. This letter is a greeting to all of you, and if someone would care to write me a few lines I would be very glad.

Sincerely,
Thora Lundgren.

Shower Honors Miss Fitzpatrick

Miss Eileen Fitzpatrick, whose marriage to Mr. Harvey Read takes place late this month, was the guest of honor at a bridal shower, with a lilies theme, at the home of Mrs. Pete Bowie, Tuesday, June 8. Mrs. Weldon Greenlee was the joint hostess and some twenty-six neighbors and friends were present.

Pink and white streamers, banked with lilies formed an attractive arch, under which the bride-to-be was seated. At a given signal a shower of confetti fell over Eileen, and at the same moment little Norreen and Gloria Jean Bowie, dressed as two dainty flower girls, wheeled a gaily decorated buggy into the room. The little maids gravely presented the gifts to the guest of honor, while "Grandma" Fitzpatrick very ably expressed the good wishes of herself and those assembled for a long and happy married life for the young couple.

The bride was assisted in opening the many beautifully wrapped parcels by her grandmother, lovingly known as "Grandma" Fitzpatrick throughout the district. Eileen most graciously thanked her friends for their kind wishes and the lovely and useful gifts.

The reception rooms were decorated with a profusion of lilies creating a lovely setting for the social afternoon which followed. The making of a "Bride's Book" and its presentation provided much fun and will be a much appreciated keep-sake for the bride. A contest arranged by Mrs. Del Thomas was won by Mrs. P. McIntyre.

A dainty lunch was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Helen Roe, Mrs. Beryl Bowie and Mrs. Irene Crabb.

Top Entertainment At Third Annual Rodeo

Good Crowds Pleased by Combination of Best Riders and Ropers and Top Quality Stock — George Aldoff of New Mexico Named Best All-round Cowboy — Parade and Carnival Successful — A. B. Graham Wins $300 Prize

Adverse weather conditions may have affected the size of the crowd at the Vulcan Lions Club third annual rodeo on Monday and Tuesday of this week, but it had no effect on the quality of entertainment offered as some of the continent's best cowboys matched their skills against the toughest broncs, wildest steers and slipperiest calves seen in this part of the country for many years.

Despite Monday's showers and threatening skies on Tuesday the attendance was over 2000 for each day of the show and the list of 152 entries was probably the largest of any stampede to be held this year, outside of Calgary. In every respect, the show lived up to its billing as the biggest and best stampede ever held in Vulcan, and great credit is due Ken Thomson, the rodeo manager, who made every effort to ensure a large entry list of competitors and at the same time secured the best stock available so that top rodeo entertainment could be assured.

The large entry list greatly increased the purses, with over $2800 in prize money being paid out in the two days. The famous Genrich string of bucking horses, Streeter's tricky Brahma steers and the top quality of other stock made it a tough business, even for the best of riders and ropers, and Monday's rain and resulting slippery ground caused several unlooked for spills. Several minor injuries were sustained by riders the second day, with one cowboy, Shorty Short, requiring hospitalization. A stretcher team from the Vulcan Highlander Cadets was present to render first aid when needed.

A pleasing feature of the show was the smoothness with which the events were run off. There were few delays and the fast action helped greatly in making it an outstanding rodeo in every respect. The capable announcing of Blair Holland of Lethbridge added to the spectators' enjoyment of the show. Tom Duce and Dorothy Palmer were the official timers and arena judges were Louis Palmer of Vulcan and Frank Sharpe of Turner Valley.

The rodeo got off to a good start with an excellent parade, which is described elsewhere on this page. The cowboy carnival and dance, held in the arena each evening, was well attended and was under the experienced direction of F. E. Atkinson. Music for the dance was provided by Hunter's Ramblers.

A. B. Graham Wins Prize
The big feature prize draw for Tuesday evening, was won by A. B. Graham of Vulcan. The prize consisted of the winner's choice of $300 deposit on a new Pontiac car, a two-weeks holiday at Vancouver for two persons with fare, hotel accommodation and meals, or $300 in merchandise.

Fourteen Floats Feature Rodeo Parade on Monday

A new feature of the Vulcan Rodeo and one that has received much favorable comment, was the big parade at noon on Monday. Directed by M. D. McIntyre of the Lions Club, the parade consisted of fourteen commercial floats, cowboys, decorated bicycles and the latest in farm machinery.

Several oldtimers of the district had a place of honor, with the oldest pioneer present being Richard Brodrik, aged 88, who came to this country in 1883.

The Highlander Cadets drew applause as they marched smartly along and the fire department had its equipment on display.

First prize for decorated floats went to George Giles, whose float represented a western farm home and was drawn by a smart team of Clydesdales. The Scout and Cub float, depicting a camp scene, won second prize and the Alberta Government Telephone float placed third.

Decorated bicycle prizes were won by Donna Lloyd (first),

EMPLOYERS, EMPLOYEES AND THE RESERVE ARMY

(Calgary Herald)

Reserve units of the Canadian Army in British Columbia were called out when floods began to threaten large areas of the province. They have since been doing dangerous and exhausting work, side by side with civilian volunteers. They are getting the usual army rates of pay, according to rank, which, in many instances, are much lower than their civilian pay. Their employers may or may not be continuing their wages.

Naturally, their absence from work inconveniences their employers. Some of the latter have become incensed. Lt.-Col. Herberton Fullerton, commander of the Irish Fusiliers of Canada, one of the units called out, complains that he has been "pestered to death." He says: "Employers are telephoning and almost ordering me to relieve men under my command."

Col. Fullerton point out, quite correctly, that the reservists are not volunteers, though their willingness to help the flood victims is not in doubt. They have been called out under provisions of the Militia Act of Canada, and their commander has no authority to release them.

Somewhat more serious is the report that certain reservists have been threatened with loss of their jobs. If such threats have been made—the Vancouver Board of Trade claims that no member firm did make them—the Dominion government should take immediate steps to guarantee that no punitive measures are taken against men who had no choice in the matter and who are doing a valuable service to their fellow Canadians.

This incident, unfortunately, is not an isolated one. Local reserve units have encountered the same hostility and unco-operative spirit from a minority of Calgary employers. Though reserve camps have now been reduced to a week, and most reservists are willing to attend camp in their holiday period, men have been threatened with dismissal if they attend. "You must decide whether you are in the army or with the firm," one young officer was told. The same officer, incidentally, was a veteran of six years service overseas, most of it in the fighting line.

In fairness to the bulk of employers this petty spirit is not general. Some local firms not only encourage their men to take reserve army training but also give them time for camp, sometimes with pay, aside from their holiday period.

It seems to escape the unco-operative minority that reservists are not training for the fun of it. Aside from the camp period, all training is in their own time. They work hard and they study hard, trying to prepare themselves for the heavy responsibilities that arise in an emergency. Without the fund of officers and non-commissioned officers provided by the militia at the outbreak of the recent war, the army would have been in a sad state indeed. The need of such reserves is as great now as it was then, possibly greater.

The reserve army has had a difficult time bringing its units up to strength, even to a fraction of strength. It needs both the encouragement and the active help of all employers. In the event of hostilities, it will be the reservists, not the employers, who will risk their lives. A number are doing so at the moment along the Fraser River dikes.

TOURIST TRADE

The official estimate of tourist receipts in Canada last year is $245 million. Based on sample analyses the distribution of this large sum was about 40 per cent for accommodation and food, 25 per cent for merchandise, 20 per cent for transportation and the balance for amusements and incidentals. This large expenditure meant that industries supplying the tourists trade were able to provide more and steadier employment. It also meant that a considerable number of people found jobs in hotels and holiday resorts, many in remote areas augmenting their incomes thereby. In addition many students found occupation in the tourist trade helpful in providing funds for educational courses. Tourist expenditures here were re-spent by the first recipients in improvements, by workers for necessities and by manufacturers for the next year's supplies.—Bank of Commerce Commercial Letter.

TESTS OF SWEETNESS

According to the findings of Canadian Research scientists, the majority of people lack delicate sense of taste for sweetness, and that the relative sweetness of different sugars vary with concentration, the sweetness of one sugar being apparently enhanced by the presence of a second sugar.

Taking a Look at Canada

(From the Minneapolis Star)

"The world as a whole desperately needs to profit from the example of Canadian-American co-operation."

Thus did President Truman point out the good neighborliness shared by the United States and Canada across 3,897 miles of mutual border.

Cementing the two nations are these two factors:
Geographic unity.
A common language.

Application of democratic ideals in government and an interest in democracy throughout the world.

A common heritage of the pioneer spirit and a common role as a "melting pot" for persons of many nationalities and creeds.

Growing economic importance to each other.

An increasing sense of interdependence in a divided world where any aggressor can be checked only if matched in diplomatic, economic or military strength.

Co-operation between the United States and Canada hit its peak during World War II.

There is every indication the partnership will continue, but there are some sour notes, chiefly economic.

One is the question of reciprocity in tariffs; the adjustment of import duties where most beneficial to flow of trade.

Another is a recent ailment. Canada hasn't enough dollars to buy from this country the things it wants.

This is serious for both countries. More than 80 per cent of Canada's imports come from the United States. Put another way:

Of all United States exports last year, 15 per cent went to the dominion.

Last November Canada shut out a long list of commodities from below the border and many other articles went under a quota system—a $300,000,000 annual chunk lopped off the $2,000,000,000 rate at which the United States sold to its best customer in 1947.

The dominion's weight in world affairs stems chiefly from natural resources.

No one is sure what mineral wealth may lie under the vast unexplored areas of the far north. But all indications are, the Canada has one of the world's greatest metal reserves.

One-third of the country's 3,466,000 square miles is forest covered.

Ninety per cent of the world's nickel comes from the dominion. It produces 12 per cent of the world's copper, and 10 per cent of the silver, and leads all other nations in platinum.

It is first also in mica, asbestos, gypsum, feldspar and graphite.

Canada is fifth in gold production and a leading source of zinc and aluminum.

Fourteen per cent of the world's known supply of coals is in Canada. Canadian waters yield more than 1,000,000,000 pounds of fish yearly.

A wealth of water power resources barely has been tapped.

Although only 2.6 per cent of the land is arable, these 58,000,000 acres have produced enough wheat alone to provide for export of an average of 1,000,000 bushels a day for the past three years.

For the budding atomic era, Canada has a reportedly major deposit of the world's uranium.

In 1938, it was turning out 9 per cent of the world's radium ores, and being developed were deposits expected to raise output to four-fifths that of the world leader, the Belgian Congo. Discovery of new deposits was announced in September, 1947, but extent was not revealed.

Canadian industry still is growing up. Continued growth depends upon maintenance of a large volume of world trade.

With 12,000,000 persons, less than 1 per cent of the world's population, Canada in 1939 ranked sixth in total trade; in 1944, third.

Bulk of her export trade in peace time is in raw or semi-finished products: newsprint, wheat, nickel, lumber, copper, meat, pulpwood, fish, aluminum, flour, asbestos.

Behind the United States as Canadian markets—this country took 41 per cent of its exports in 1939—are Britain, India, Italy, France.

What Canada imports comes primarily from the United States, Britain, India, Venezuela and Australia, in that order. Chief imports are coal, machinery and electrical apparatus, petroleum products, automobiles and parts, fresh fruits and vegetables, textiles, raw cotton and wool, iron, glass, sugar, coffee and tea and printed matter.

Canada is one of five self-governing dominions of the British Commonwealth and has been linked politically with Britain since 1763.

However, it was French before it was British—a factor with which government has had to reckon no less in the 22-year administration of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King than in earlier days.

Explorers gave France a dream of empire; a line of French forts went up along the Niagara, Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

But Britain and her American colonies were aroused, and the French and Indian war was fought.

On September 13th, 1759, Wolfe scored his victory at Quebec and a year later Montreal fell.

Canada passed to the British.

Eleven years later, by the Quebec act, parliament brought under rule from Quebec all the territory that had been claimed by the French.

The act won for Britain support of the Roman Catholic church of land-owners, for it gave the church all its old privileges and established French civil law and language along British criminal law and the English language.

Political deadlock between the French and British spurred parliament in the British North America act of 1867, to give the new country federal union and status as a dominion.

Included were Canada (now Ontario and Quebec provinces), New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

In 1868 the Rupert's Land act gave Canada the vast territories of the Hudson's Bay Co. Out of this came the provinces of Manitoba (1870) and Alberta and Saskatchewan (1905).

British Columbia came in in 1871, Prince Edward Island in 1873. In 1895 Canada took over the Arctic areas of the Yukon Territory and the Northwest Territories.

Canada's greatest period of growth followed opening of the west to settlement, the building of railroads and discovery of the wheat-growing potentialities of the prairies.

Between 1901 and 1911 more than 1,800,000 persons poured into the dominion. That 34 per cent gain in population was the greatest on the globe.

Canadians do not form a compact group like many European nations. About 30 per cent of the total population is French, the largest single element.

British (English, Irish and Scottish together) comprise about 45 per cent, followed by Germans, Dutch, Jews and Poles.

In 1941, time of the last census, there were eight cities of more than 100,000: Montreal, Que., 903,000; Toronto, Ont., 667,000; Vancouver, B.C., 275,000; Winnipeg, Man., 220,000; Hamilton, Ont., 166,000; Quebec, Que., 115,000, and Windsor, Ont., 105,000.

The St. Lawrence plain—the provinces of Ontario and Quebec—is the wealthiest and most populous section. Sixty per cent of the nation's population is there and 80 per cent of its manufacturing is done there.

The North American act marked the break from British control of Canada's domestic affairs. Other steps to independence were these: Insistence after World War I to a separate voice for the dominions at the peace conference, and entry into the League of Nations in its own right.

Opening of the Canadian legation in Washington in 1927 and the appointment of the first United States minister to Canada.

The Statute of Westminster in 1931—formalizing Canadian freedom, which it had in effect already achieved.

Establishment of Canadian citizenship in 1946, prior to which Canadians were technically British subjects in foreign affairs.

Canada's government, modeled on Britain's, consists of three branches, parliament (legislative), executive and judiciary.

Parliament consists of the governor general—appointed by the king with advice of the Canadian government—the senate and the house of commons.

The house has a membership of 255, the senate 96. Members of commons are elected by the provinces for the duration of parliament, which must not be longer than five years. Members of the senate are appointed for life by the prime minister.

The governor general has a five year term of office and acts only on advice of his cabinet.

Heading the cabinet is the prime minister. He chooses his cabinet and his resignation carries theirs with it. All members of the cabinet are members of either commons or the senate.

Government within the province is along the same lines. Top provincial executive is the lieutenant governor, appointed by the governor general for a five year term.

Canada's traditional diplomatic role has been that of a "middle-man"—if for no other reason than its proximity to the United States and Russia and its ties with Britain.

But in 1944 the Dominion cast aside its "no commitments" policy to join the United Nations and to take part in what world security plans could be agreed upon.

In February, 1947, the United States and Canada announced a program under which they would: Exchange military intelligence. Standardize arms and unify training methods.

Use each other's military, naval and air facilities if desirable.

NEED FOR SPEED

Proper handling of fresh produce is an important step in the preparation of a high quality dehydration food. Sweet corn, peas and spinach, for example, are so perishable that they should be processed within a few hours after harvest. In the case of unavoidable delays, they will require refrigeration to slow down deterioration.

C.P.R. SPEEDS TICKETING

G. A. MacNamara, vice-president of traffic for the Canadian Pacific Railway, inspects a new ticket issuing and accounting machine, the first of its kind on the North American continent, which went into service at the C.P.R.'s Windsor Station in Montreal recently. The machine prints its own tickets when the ticket seller inserts a matrix, such as Mr. MacNamara holds in his left hand, into the slot on the lower right hand corner. In his right hand Mr. MacNamara holds a ticket that the machine has just issued. The bottom picture of one of the coach tickets the machine issues shows how much more compact it is than the type of coach ticket at the right. As well as speeding up ticket sales, the machine keeps full accounting records. Installation of the machine in other main Canadian Pacific centres across Canada depends upon the success of the machine in its initial performance in Windsor Station, which was picked for the introduction because of the volume of business handled there. It is expected that the machine will be able to handle 90 per cent of the coach tickets issued there, and tickets will be issued to practically all C.P.R. points within 24 hours travelling time of Montreal.

INCH OF RAIN IN ONE HOUR

Champion was the centre of a cloudburst on Monday afternoon, between one and two o'clock, when 1.12 inches of rain was recorded within an hour. Rain which fell intermittently during the afternoon and evening brought the total for the day to 1.37 inches, and the total from the 1st of April to date at 7.83 inches.

Farmers in the district have their seeding nearly completed with the exception of a small acreage which they are seeding to flax. It is feared that some of the seed may have been washed out, as in some fields deep gulleys were formed by the storm.

"PIONEER'S" ADDITIONAL PAYMENT ON OATS AND BARLEY

Some months ago we made an interim payment of 12 cents on oats and 10 cents on barley, and advised all customers that final payment would be made later.

Cheques are now in the hands of all agents for this final distribution. It will be appreciated if you will call and pick up your cheque.

This payment plus the initial interim payment makes a total of 13½c per bushel on oats, and 16½c per bushel on barley.

We are happy to announce that "Pioneer" customers are receiving more per bushel than the distribution made by any other Pool or Line elevator operators in Saskatchewan or Alberta.

IT PAYS TO PULL TO THE "PIONEER"

The Federal Government promised to make a payment to farmers on oats and barley, delivered at ceiling prices between August 1st and October 21st, 1947, after the Elevator Companies had made an adjustment. This has now been done and we therefore trust the Federal Government will implement its promise in the near future.

Scotland Against 'New Look' in Kilts

(Detroit News)

Glasgow, Scotland — Scotsmen hereby decline to conform with New York and Paris "new look" fashions. They refuse to let down the hems of their kilts.

And Scotland's most famous tenor, 78-year-old Sir Harry Lauder, says that's final.

There has been a serious effort by kilt manufacturers here to convince kilt wearers that they should let them down some to keep up with the times.

Kilts for Export

Manufacturers are particularly interested in kilts made for export and sold to women in the United States as sports skirts. They want to standardize the kilt hemline a few inches longer. They don't want to be bothered making them of different lengths for different customers. "Never," says Sir Harry, "will I alter the world's coolest and most comfortable garment in the interest of rank commercialism."

The beloved tenor, who has made 22 trips to the United States for stage appearances, still sings his old favorites, "Roamin' In the Gloamin'" and "I Love a Lassie," on special occasions, here in Glasgow.

At 78 he looks like a bent old woman. The plaid kilt is still his standard garment with a bottle green or robin's egg blue coat.

"My knees are too beautiful to be spoiled by longer skirts," says he. "My girl friend wouldn't like it."

He Carries a Knife

Sir Harry carries a knife in the top of his right stocking. It is called a skean dhu and it indicates that he is ready to fight anything in sight.

During the war he entertained thousands of American troops at his Glasgow mansion. Being a Scot, he still has most of the buffalo nickels he earned appearing in the United States.

Safe Tractor Operation

When working around tractors this spring, avoid accidents by commonsense, safe operation. Rubber-tired equipment permits travel at high speeds, and the number of accidents since its introduction has increased noticeably.

E. B. Martin, Extension Engineer, Alberta Department of Agriculture, says that a combination of high speed, quick turning, and braking on one wheel is responsible for many of our most serious accidents. For general operation leave the connection latch in place. This ties the two brake pedals together and results in brake action on both wheels. Individual braking of the rear wheels should not be used except in cases of necessity.

Perhaps the next most serious cause of accidents is an unprotected power take-off shaft. You are asking for trouble if you operate a power unit with the shield removed. Another cause of serious accidents is the operation of a tractor on roads and highways after dark without a light. The driver of a car approaching at 40 mile an hour may be unable to stop in time after your outfit is seen by him. The law requiring lights on a moving vehicle on the roads after dark is for your protection.

The child on a tractor is a child in danger. All too often children are seriously or fatally injured from riding on or playing around tractors.

Watch how you grab the crank handle. Taking hold of the handle so that the fingers and thumb are on the same side of the crank may prevent a broken arm.

Most operators are aware of the danger of running an engine in a closed building, but cases of carbon monoxide poisoning still occur. Open the shed doors or provide an exhaust pipe to the outside if you have to run an engine in an enclosed space.

Don't fill the fuel tank when the engine is hot. Gasoline spilled on a hot tractor may burst into flame and cause serious loss.

Finally, either stop or idle a belt pulley when putting on a drive belt. Take all precaution possible. A tractor is an excellent servant, but a few seconds of thoughtless operation can turn it immediately into a monster of death and destruction.

RECORDING PROGRESS OF EAST AFRICAN GROUNDNUT SCHEME

A mobile recording unit of the British Broadcasting Corporation is at present touring Tanganyika to collect material for broadcasts on the progress of the big groundnut development scheme. The unit will bring back a first-hand account of the great pioneer work being done by the men actually engaged in transforming the vast area of African bush into fertile land. Recordings will be brought back to London and broadcast in special programmes both to home listeners and on Overseas and Colonial Services of BBC.

Centralized Schools

(Wetaskiwin Times)

The life of a public servant, elected or otherwise, is seldom a happy one but rarely does criticism burst forth with such fury as it did last Friday afternoon when the Divisional School Board attempted to give an accounting of their policies to a meeting of ratepayers. The heat of argument during the meeting contributed nothing to the solution of the educational problem faced by the Board and the only benefit to the ratepayers was the questionable satisfaction of having let off a little steam.

There was considerable justification for many of the arguments advanced by the critics of the Board but on the other hand we must concede the sincerity of the trustees' interest in the welfare of the children of the district. It is true that taxes have increased by leaps and bounds in the past few years but it is also true that great progress has been made in educational facilities for rural children. Let's look at the situation in the cold light of reason.

Education today is as far removed from what our fathers had and needed as the modern automobile is from the horse and buggy. Today's child needs a much more advanced education if he is to compete in the modern world. This is as true of farming as it is of any other vocation and the "green hand" hit-and-miss type of farming is a thing of the past. Scientific methods, modern machinery and marketing problems call for trained minds to cope with modern farming.

The first thoughts of all parents are for their children. How are they to get the best education we can give them at the least possible cost is the main question. Centralizations of schools may or may not be the answer but it is advanced as a solution by a group of sincere and interested men who have studied the problem and it must have some merit.

The teacher shortage has been one of the main contributing factors in the move towards centralization. The board has been wrestling with that problem for the past five years with a chorus of complaints from the ratepayers. Every resident thinks his district should have one of the few available teachers. There are not enough to go round and in desperation the board decided to literally bring the schools to the teachers when they couldn't bring teachers to the schools.

The big trouble is that centralization is being blamed for the steep rise in taxes. But that is not the case. Taxes have increased in a similar proportion for town and city ratepayers where no comparable added service or new buildings have been provided.

Those who oppose centralization can do a lot of good by pointing out its deficiencies and faults but it doesn't seem reasonable to fight it blindly. Calling a halt to centralization would not solve the problem. It would not reduce taxes; it would not provide more teachers—it would not bring education to one more child in the district. The only way we can survive the present crisis in education is to work together for the good of the young people. The past is not good enough—we must look to the future.

Highlights of Nanton Rodeo

First time to be performed by children on this continent, the Roman standing races will be a highlight of the Nanton Stampede. The Lockton youngsters, Margaret, 11, Frances, 4, and Alex, 8, are children of Cecil Lockton of Nanton and now living at Patricia. Cecil Lockton rode broncs in southern Alberta Stampedes in the late twenties. The children have a small chuckwagon drawn by four of their Shetlands and will be in the street parade along with their pet yodelling coyote.

Each youngster on a pair of yoked ponies rides standing with a foot on each horse, at the best speed that can be got out of the miniature racehorses and the competition between the three is terrific. They ride every race as if there were thousands wagered on it.

Another new feature at the Nanton Stampede, is the competition between Bert Sheppard's team from the TL ranch at High River and Allie and Jack Streeter's hunch in a branding bee. One team will perform each night and the team getting the best time at Nanton and High River shows will receive a trophy. Jack Streeter will rope, Allie will handle the irons, Norman Fredrickson and Hick Ewashen will be the flankers and rumor has it that Henry Stoller will be fireman for the Nanton team. Each team will handle fifteen calves. Old timers are already making bets on the best team at the same time boasting that the younger generation won't make as fast time as they could when in their prime.

The glamour horses of the west, the Palominos will be a big attraction as usual. Nanton boasts the first Palomino show held in Canada and the shows following that have been important features of the two day entertainment each year since.

Merchants are busy rustling materials for the street parade and window decoration and individuals and organizations are planning their share of the show. Additional seating accommodation is being built and overnight accommodations being planned. Meanwhile the committee members responsible for the show are working like beavers with an occasional pause to pray for good weather.

Varieties of Wheat Sown

A survey made by the Alberta Wheat Pool to find out what varieties of wheat are being sown by the Alberta farmers this year shows that Red Bobs still heads the list with a provincial average of 32.3%. That figure, however, is a decline of 4% from last year. Thatcher wheat is increasing in popularity having risen to 27.9% this year from 24.4% last year. Marquis wheat is 3rd at 22.3%. This variety is grown mostly in southern Alberta, very little being seeded north of Red Deer.

Garnet wheat is regaining some popularity having risen from 6.1% in the province last year to 7.4% this year. In the area west of the Calgary-Edmonton line, running from Bowden on the south and Sanguon on the north, 75% of the wheat sown is Garnet.

The following table shows the provincial percentage of the different varieties of wheat sown this year and last year.

	1948 % Seeded	1947 % Seeded
Marquis	22.3	24.1
Red Bobs	32.3	36.3
Thatcher	27.9	24.4
Reward	1.0	1.1
Canus	2.7	2.8
Garnet	7.4	6.1
Winter Wheat ..	2.9	2.7
White Spring ..	1.1	.7
Other Varieties ..	2.4	1.8

An old saw to be remembered next year—"When the oak leaf is as big as a mouse's ear, then thou in safety can plant thy corn."

It is announced by the United States Department of Agriculture that under existing financial conditions it is doubtful whether the American fruit industry can regain pre-war markets in Western Europe. Before the war, about $89 million worth of fruits and fruit products were exported, mostly to Europe. Because of the dollar shortage, European countries will have to import from "soft currency" countries. The American apple and pear industry will be particularly affected because of its dependence on foreign markets.

THOUSANDS MORE FARMERS WILL USE TRACTORS

because The new Canadian-made Massey-Harris "Pony" has opened up a great new market for tractors

One year ago, Massey-Harris introduced a new small tractor... the "Pony"... with a full complement of mounted tools... to be made in its Canadian factory at Woodstock. Previously, all tractors used in Canada, were imported. Thus, Massey-Harris took two important steps which are bound to play a big part in Canadian prosperity during the years ahead.

The "Pony" opens up a great new market for tractors, both in Canada and in the export field. The last Canadian census showed nearly 500,000 farms still without tractors... many of which are small farms and market gardens where big tractor outfits are not practical. And there are a great many more thousands of small farms in the United States, in Europe, in Africa, and other countries where Massey-Harris products are sold. Almost every one of them is a prospect for a "Pony".

With the practical, economical "Pony" thousands more farmers will be able to use tractor power to do their work easier, quicker, and more profitably. The manufacture of the "Pony" Tractor in Canada will provide jobs in the years ahead for Canadian workers... not only those employed in the Massey-Harris factory, but also those employed in the industries which supply materials, parts and services.

The great and growing demand for the "Pony", from the day of its first public demonstration, is evidence of its real need and place in Canadian and world agriculture.

A Tribute to Agriculture

In the last reckoning all things are bought with food. Our civilization is bought with food; our industrial achievements as a province and a nation: our cultural advantages, our recreation. Food, abundant and adequate, is necessary to support our civilization.

The food produced on Alberta farms is the main source of the annual wealth production of this province.

The total new wealth produced from Alberta's field crops in the past eight years was $1,736,000,000, an annual average of $217,000,000.

The gross Alberta farm cash income in the past eight years was over two billion dollars, an annual average of $250 millions.

The Alberta Wheat Pool publishes these statistics to show Alberta people the value of the agricultural industry.

The Wheat Pool is a farmer-owned co-operative operating 476 country elevators and two terminals.

Pool Elevators have provided exceptional service to Alberta grain producers over the years.
